Romney to Confront Big Issue

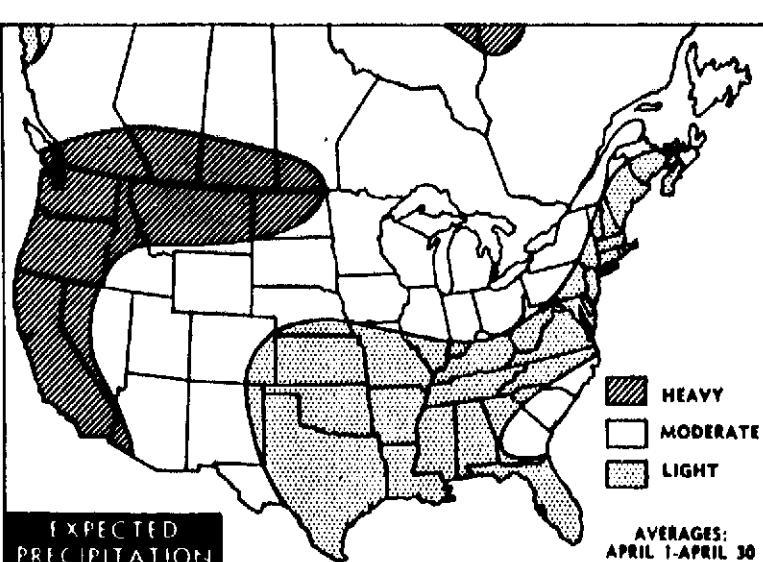

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney confronts tonight the biggest issue
yet facing his unannounced bid
for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination — the war in Vietnam.
All signs point to a general endorsement of President Johnson's war policies — as an unpleasant but necessary task —
spiced with criticism of the way
the administration has sought
peace and internal stability in South Vietnam.
Romney is to discuss Vietnam
at a dinner in Hartford, Conn.,
marking the 150th anniversary of the Hartford Times.
The governor already has said
he will offer no specific alternatives, discuss no tactics. Romney said he will outline his basic view, and that is all.
Nor will he discuss that view,
before or after he outlines it. "I don't intend to let a lot of reporters divert attention from what I have to say," Romney
said Wednesday.
What Romney has to say is crucial to his embryonic campaign for White House nomination in 1968 simply because, since emerging as a potential candidate, he has refused to take a position.
While he has harshly criticized Johnson at times, Romney's standard answer to questions about Vietnam has been that he had the subject under thorough examination.
Romney announced three weeks ago he was ready to talk in Hartford tonight. That announcement — said to have startled some of his own assistants — cast political attention on his speech.
The governor plans a trip to Vietnam this year. He has consulted diplomats, politicians, Senate speeches and liberal-minded Republican senators in his quest for information.

Speech Teacher of the Year

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gerald Ray Horne, 30, of Northside High School in Warner
Robbins, Ga., was chosen Thursday Speech Teacher of the Year by the Southern Speech Association.
Horne's selection was announced at the group's annual convention of delegates from a 17-state area.

Normal to much-above temperatures can be expected by much of the nation. Exceptions will be California and the north Atlantic Coast states.

to Quang Tri today to survey
the damage from the latest Red attacks south of the Ben Hai bridge, which marks the border between North and South Vietnam and is the dividing point between the northern and southern halves of the demilitarized zone.
Ky's government filed a protest with the International Control Commission charging that North Vietnamese soldiers
moved across the bridge Wednesday, forcing South Vietnamese civilian police to abandon their post at the southern end of the bridge.
The government said South
Vietnamese artillery opened up on the Communist force and the steel girder bridge. It said eight rounds hit the bridge, but it remained passable to traffic.
The United States and South
Vietnam have charged the Reds with repeatedly violating the demilitarized zone and infiltrating troops through it into the South. U.S. intelligence also reports that some 35,000 regular North Vietnamese troops are now in and around the zone.
Thursday, the Communists followed up the crossing of the Ben Hai bridge with a series of attacks on Quang Tri City, which is about 10 miles below
the zone on the main north-south highway. These attacks hit a regimental command post
at Quang Tri City, other South Vietnamese posts and a number of American installations in the city. Ten U.S. military advisers were killed and nine wounded.
The Red force penetrated
within the city and was there for much of the day. They opened the gates of the city
prison and freed about 250 prisoners of war.

MOTHER (From Page 1)

"I didn't like it. He fed me TV dinners — meat loaf. He forced it down me."
Then he described the shaving
of his head, a maneuver apparently designed to make the tape
of a blindfold stick better.
"He did it Monday at 11 o'clock," Kenny said. "He put me on the bed, then made me bend over with my feet on the floor and clipped my head."
Kenny wore only undershorts
when he appeared at 3:30 a.m.
Thursday at the apartment in nearby Santa Monica of John A.
Negrey, 43, an aerospace engineer.
Negrey said the boy's wrists
were taped with adhesive, and a strip of adhesive dangled from his forehead. The boy was drow-sy from sleeping pills given him
by the kidnaper.
"I've been kidnapped. Can I come in?" the boy asked.
Negrey then learned that Kenny was the son of Herbert J.
Young, 35, president of the $423-million Gibraltar Savings and Loan Association of Beverly Hills.
A telephone call to the Young
home released a torrent of joy and relief.
"Hi, dad," Kenny said. "I'm all right. Come and get me."
Mrs. Young said she had been certain "deep down — here in my heart" that Kenny would be returned unharmed.

SS Hike by July 1 Is Fading Fast

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) —
Chances are fading fast that an increase in Social Security benefits will be in effect by July 1,
the date suggested by President Johnson.
"Sept. 1 is a good date to think about," said one source deeply involved in the legislative handling of the bill.
Congress is considered certain eventually to pass some legislation aligning payments more closely with today's cost of living. But benefit increases probably will not be initially as generous as the 20 per cent average increase Johnson proposed, nor will the payroll tax increase be as steep as such a boost would require.
House Republicans are backing a limited increase now with provision for further rises later.
Some key Democrats have expressed concern with the added tax burden on payrolls that the Johnson proposals involve.
The measure has been held back by a number of handicaps,
including its own complexity.
It is really a half-dozen bills
in one, dealing also with administrative adjustments of the medicare program, limits on federally assisted state health care undertakings, a pilot dental program for children and aids for the training of social workers.
The bill has run into a jammed schedule of the House Ways and Means Committee, which has been in almost daily
session for two months.
The Social Security bill also to some extent entangled with the proposal for an income tax surcharge, now also a candidate for delay or even possibly withdrawal.
The administration is concerned that the timing of the two measures — one taking money out of the private sector
of the economy, the other pumping it in — avoid any violent disruptions.
The Ways and Means Committee will not begin until late next week its private review of the legislation.
The panel estimates that job
will take at least six weeks and will be interrupted by the necessity to consider the second bill
this year to increase the national debt limit.
The outlook is for House action sometime in June. Then the whole process begins again in the Senate. Normally that body goes considerably beyond House-approved increases in Social Security, requiring conferences to design a compromise bill and another round of action in both houses.

Some 300,00 Students Going Abroad

By SALLY RYAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly 300,000 college students will pack their phrase books, bikinis
and guitars for trips abroad this summer. Even little brothers and sisters will join the exodus.
"It's just snowballing," said
James E.A. Glendinning,
director of the National Student Association's tour program, Educational Travel, Inc.
He predicted that student travel would be up 15 to 20 per cent over last year.
The State Department issued passports to 324,180 persons aged 15 to 25 last year, up from 247,140 in 1965, and 48,970 youngsters aged 10 to 14 obtained
passports, up from 37,480.
The number of younger travelers has increased so much that Arista, which bills itself as America's largest student travel organization, now splits its group into teen-agers (15-17),
collegiates (17-21) and young adults (21-28).
Hundreds of other travel
agencies, colleges and airlines
are setting up tours and seminars for young people. They may study political science in Czechoslovakia or chamber music in Germany.
Most first trippers still go to Europe, but the number traveling to the Far East, particularly Japan, has been increasing, the council on student travel reports.
The council has chartered a ship to make 10 all-student transatlantic crossings this summer, with open-air language classes, panel discussions on civil rights, jazz sessions and warnings about shipboard romances.
The National Student Association has lined up tours and study programs that cost from $765 for three weeks in Europe to $1,850 for more than seven weeks.
The tours cater to students
with fondue parties with Swiss students in Zurich, dances at the Danish students' club in Copenhagen and an evening at a student inn in Heidelberg.
The number of American colleges and institutions sponsoring foreign study programs more than doubled from 103 in 1962 to 208 in 1965, the council reports.
In 1950 there were only 6.
Stanford University now reaches out from its California
campus to administer year-
around study centers or campuses in Japan, Formosa, Italy,
France and Germany.

Matthews Says Racing to Be Repealed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Rep.
Charles Matthews of North
Little Rock, Ark., said here Thursday that a move is under way to repeal horse race betting by popular referendum in Arkansas.
He said, "We did not feel
we stood one chance in the world" of repealing it through the legislature.
Matthews testified at a Texas House committee hearing against a bill that would allow pari-mutuel betting in Texas
for the first time in 30 years,
on a local option basis.
Matthews, who said Arkansas has suffered from legalized horse race betting, said he was invited to testify by an organization called "Citizens Against Race Track Cam-bling."
"If you legalize pari-mutuel betting, it will cause a serious law enforcement problem," he said.
Richard A. Kumble, supervisor of the Florida Racing Commission, told the committee his state has found the tracks to be "a tremendous industry from which many other industries have sprung."
Matthews said Arkansas has
"25 counties where, according to an investigation, open, flagrant casino-type gambling is going on." "The tracks were there long before we had casino betting," he said in linking the casinos with the race tracks.
There is a bookie for every 10,000 people in Pulaski County, Matthews said, adding that the city of Little Rock had to pay $15,000 a year in vice squad salaries because of illegal bookie operations.
Emphysema is said to incapacitate one of every 14
wage earners between the ages of 45 and 60.

Flood Control Plant Bids

MEMPHIS (AP) — Bids will be asked April 14 for equipment to operate a proposed $25 million flood control plant for the St. Francis River Basin in Arkansas, the U.S. District Court of Engineers announced Tuesday.
Plans call for the plant, which would permit drainage of an area about 100 miles long and 20 miles wide, to be built on the St. Francis near Marianna.

Discount Rate Drop Could Spell Trouble for LBJ's Tax Hike

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The
first drop in the Federal Reserve discount rate in more than 6½ years could spell more trouble for the administration's plan for a 6 per cent surtax on corporate and most individual incomes.
The board, in a dramatic move Thursday which could signal a further general easing
of credit and lower interest rates, dropped the discount rate from 4.5 to 4 per cent over most of the country effective today.
But Sen. William Proxmire,
D-Wis., chairman of the Senate-
House Economic Committee,
said the action should reinforce opposition to the surtax plan designed partly to stem inflationary pressure expected by government economists later
this year.
Proxmire said softening business conditions demanded the unanimous action taken Thursday by the board for 10 of its 12 districts. Although the Atlanta and St. Louis districts failed to seek a lower discount rate, they are expected to follow suit.
If government policy now is aimed at stimulating the economy, Proxmire said, "it would be a mistake to shove up taxes that would discourage business expansion at the same time we reduce interest rates to encourage business."
The Treasury Department
welcomed the discount action as a sign of a "desirable further easing of credit availability and interest rate levels." The administration has sought lower interest rates.
Some government experts
said the lower discount rate would act as a stimulant to the economy which is now more sluggish than the administration anticipated. This could give the administration stronger economic data to present to Congress later this spring in defending its surtax plan.
A lowering in the discount rate normally means lower interest rates for businessmen
seeking loans and for consumers buying houses, automobiles
and other goods on the instalment plan.
Just how fast the lower discount rate would act as a stimulant to the economy which is now more sluggish than the administration anticipated. This could give the administration stronger economic data to present to Congress later this spring in defending its surtax plan.

Says Killings Could Have Been Stopped

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.
(AP) — A man who killed two police officers could have been stopped without bloodshed,
Police Chief William Barnes
says.
"If just one person had stepped in, my men would be alive today," Barnes said. He said a group of women witnesses told him several men stood by Thursday while a bersek man disarmed Sgt. William H.
Fletcher and killed him with his service revolver.
"They just stood there," Barnes said. "And if my men had used his pistol to subdue the suspect he would have been charged by the press with police brutality."
Fletcher, 52, and motorcycle
patrolman David Van Curler, 31, a father of five, were slain
with their own service revolvers
as they answered a complaint at a federal savings and loan association.
John C. Cooley, 32, an unemployed Negro, was charged with first degree murder. He was captured in front of the Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan Association as he stood over the dead policemen, a gun in his hand.
Cooley was subdued by Thomas Gorham, 20, a Silver Star
winner who picked up Van Curler's discarded gun and got the drop on Cooley. Van Curler's pistol had only one bullet in it but the other was empty.
With Fletcher and Van Curler
lying dead in the street, Gorham held the gun on Cooley
while onlookers yelled: "Kill him! Kill him!"
"Even the guy yelled, 'Yeah!
Shoot me, I wanna die!' And I told him, 'You don't have to worry about that,'" said the Army veteran who won his medal by overrunning a Viet Cong machine gun nest.
"When the guy saw me he dropped the gun and raised his hands," Gorham said. "That's all I wanted. I ignored the cries of the crowd."
"That guy didn't look as tough
as a Viet Cong."
Gorham remained calm until police reinforcements took charge of Cooley, who was not injured.
Fletcher, a 19-year veteran of the force, first answered a call for help by a female teller who said a man had tried to kick in the door, shouting, "Let me in,
I'm John the Baptist!"
Witnesses said the man, rav-
ing and wild-eyed, first shot
Fletcher, then cut down Van Curler before he could get off
his motorcycle.
Two boys who watched the episode told police the man took Van Curler's pistol out of its holster and, stepping over his body, walked to Fletcher and began pumping bullets into him.
"I hate you, I hate you," Gorham quoted Cooley as screaming at the dead officers as they lay in the street.
Police Lt. Patrick Hickey said
Cooley, a thin man about 5-foot-9, fought police, was screaming and cursing when officers
brought him into the station, but later was calm and carefree as he was questioned.
Police at nearby Riviera
Beach said Cooley's wife earlier in the day had signed a complaint against him, claiming he chased her and their children
out of the house with a butcher knife. Police said they had an order to pick him up on charges of forgery and mental incompetency. He formerly was a furniture mover.
Gorham said of the incident:
"The thing that really hurts is that I could not get there 30 seconds earlier — just 30 seconds,
that's all, I don't know what I could have done. But still."

TELLS ABOUT (From Page 1)

found the bodies of three girls," Wallenda said, and identified
them as Pamela Wilkening, Suzanne Farris and Mary Ann Jordan.
He continued: "Miss Wilken-
ing had white cloth stuffed in her mouth and a strip of cloth
was wrapped very tightly around her neck and knotted twice in the back. She had a stab wound in her left breast."
"A brown blanket covered the upper portion of Miss Farris' body. A nurse's stocking was knotted around her neck and a strip of cloth was wrapped around her wrists."
Miss Jordan clutched in her right hand a strip of cloth, Wal-lenda said. She was stabbed four times.
"In the west bedroom, there was a body of one female lying on the bed and two bodies on the floor," Wallenda related.
Nina Schmale was on the bed.
Wallenda said she was stabbed
four times in the neck and a strip of white cloth was double knotted around her neck.
The policeman described the two Philippine victims, Valenti-
na Pasion and Merlita Gargullo, who were on the floor. A double-knotted strip of cloth was around Miss Gargullo's neck.
Miss Pasion was face down, her ankles bound.
Wallenda added: "I observed
the body of a female lying on the floor of the bathroom, face
up. She was Patricia Matusek.
Her hands were tied with a strip of white cloth, another strip was knotted tightly around her neck."
"In the living room was the body of a nude female on the couch. She was Gloria Davy. A strip of cloth was around her neck. It was double knotted in the back."
William Martin, the chief prosecutor, asked Wallenda if
the strips around the neck,
wrists and ankles of the victims
were tied with different knots.
"No, they were not," Wallen-
da replied.
Gerald Getty, Cook County
public defender who is Speck's counsel, cross-examined Miss Amurao gently. He passed quickly over the details of the four hours during which the girl, hiding under a bed,
watched her friends taken to their deaths.
Getty spent some time quizzing her on the lighting in the rooms where she said she saw Speck.
Getty concentrated on throwing doubt on the description of the assailant that she gave to a police artist.

LBJ Supporter Is Winner in Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) —
Democratic State Sen. Robert
O. Tiernan of Warwick, a supporter of President Johnson's policy in Vietnam, is officially the winner of the special Rhode Island congressional election.
The State Board of Elections
certified Tiernan the winner
Thursday over his Republican opponent, Cranston Mayor
James DiPrete Jr. after a recount of machine votes.
DiPrete, the pre-election favorite, advocated a suspension
in bombing North Vietnam in the hope it might lead to peace talks.
Tiernan's plurality was 313
votes out of the nearly 114,000
cast March 28 to choose a successor to the late Democratic Rep. John E. Fogarty.
About 3,000 votes went to an independent candidate, the Rev.
Albert Q. Perry of Providence,
who ran as a pacifist.
Tiernan is scheduled to take his seat in the U.S. House next Thursday.
The Hempstead County Technical Action Panel included local officials of Department of Agriculture agencies (Farmers Home Administration, Soil Conservation Service, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, Forest Service) as well as the Extension and Vocational Agriculture services.
Local organizations concerned with community advancement will be able to determine through the County TAP whether a federal,
state, local or private agency
can help with a project that cannot be carried out solely with local resources.
Mr. High said county offices of any of the agencies represented on the Technical Action Panel
can initiate action on an inquiry.
They include Extension Service
in the court house, Soil Conservation Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and the Farmers Home Administration, Federal Building, Hope, Arkansas.

Divorces in Nevada Are Now Quicker

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) —
A new law makes divorces easier in Nevada, the pioneer in quick divorce.
Gov. Paul Laxalt signed
Thursday a measure adding incompatibility as a ground and reducing from three years to one the time required for a divorce on grounds of separation.
Attorneys backing the bill
argued that incompatibility
would be a more realistic
ground for divorce than "extreme cruelty."
Nevada reduced its residency requirement for divorce to six weeks in 1931, the same year it legalized casino gambling.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

Wearing a gown of beau de sole and a pillbox hat of lace with an illusion veil, the former Miss Linda Jo Black of Lawton, Okla., and Lt. Frank Kirk of Ft. Benning, Ga., were wed. They spoke their marriage vows March 25 at 7 p.m. in St. Paul's Methodist Church of Lawton amid large arrangements of white gladiolus, stocks, and blue carnations with tapers in candle trees.

Further enhancing the bride's dress was a Sabrina neckline, long fitted sleeves, and a skirt ornamented with Alencon lace and pearls. Her flowers were white and blue carnations centered with a white orchid.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John J. Black of Lawton and Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Kirk of Lima, Ohio.

Miss Myra Lynn Keith, honor attendant of the bride, wore a slim skirted empire blue frock and a matching color hat, and she carried a bouquet of blue carnations.

Lighting the candles were Donald and Jimmy Black, brothers of the bride. They also served as ushers.

Lt. Lee Hopkinson of Simsbury, Conn., served the bridegroom as best man.

Preceding the ceremony Raymond Allen sang "I Love You Truly" with Edwin Chapman at the organ. The Rev. Marvin Nelson conducted the double-ring ceremony.

A reception followed at the church, and serving cake and punch were the bride's sisters, Mrs. Robert Robinson, Mrs. Frank Hughes, and Mrs. Nowthy Edwards.

The couple left for Southwest Arkansas and then to Ft. Benning, Ga., where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kirk, Sr. entertained with a family dinner after the wedding rehearsal on Friday night at Ft. Sill's Officers Club, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Whitworth of Hope, grandparents of the groom, attended.

GARRETT MEMORIAL SENIOR W.M.A.

The senior W.M.A. of the Garrett Memorial Church met Wednesday, April 5 with Mrs. Larkin Bohanan. Mrs. Medford Hagard presided.

The meeting was opened with the theme song "Bless Be The Tie." Mrs. Hershel Taylor led the opening prayer.

After our short business meeting, there were ten members to enjoy a wonderful program centered on "Workers of Righteousness" by Mrs. Alford Bearden and Mrs. Sidney Churchill. Their parts were well prepared and given in a very spiritual manner so that the listeners were up lifted and drawn closer to the Lord. Mrs. Clifton Booth dismissed with prayer.

Following the program the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Coming, Going

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Herman O'Steen and family of Houma,

La., and Egypt, N. Africa, were here Wednesday to see his father, Henry O'Steen, Mrs. Bessie Shuffield, and the Aubrey O'Steen family.

Mrs. F. C. Crow returned home Thursday from Lufkin, Tex., where she attended the funeral of a friend.

KTBS Will Carry the Awards Show

KTBS TV, Television Three, will carry the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences' 39th Annual Awards presentation, Monday April 10, at 9 p.m. in color from the Santa Monica Civic Theatre in Santa Monica, California.

Bob Hope will repeat as emcee for the glittering show, which this year promises its most exciting format to date. Joining the roster of award presenters for the occasion will be Frank Sinatra, James Stewart, Vanessa Redgrave, Lee Remick, Samantha Eggar, Rock Hudson, Raquel Welch, Patricia Neal, Candice Bergen, Fred Astaire, Rosalind Russell, and Audrey Hepburn.

In addition to the Oscar presentations, entertainment will be afforded by interviews, candid shots of the stars, specialty skits, and performances of the songs nominated for an Oscar.

The Academy Awards telecast will be telecast live by ABC and carried locally by KTBS TV.

IN DEFENSE OF MINI-SKIRTS

Dear Helen: I sense that several irate fathers resent modern styles, via your column. Well, I'm a man who is in favor of them. Women were made to be beautiful, and their legs are the most beautiful part of them, except for their eyes. This is the best girl-watching era ever, and who should anyone complain about it? We never had it so good! MAN

Dear Helen: The mini-skirt is a case where a minus becomes a plus! — HARRY

Dear Helen: Here's something to ponder, Helen. In the only state of perfection ever recorded in history the woman did not even wear a fig leaf. Maybe we're going back to perfection again. — H.W.

Dear H: That's not the way I've heard it! — H.

Dear Helen: Why don't these old fogies (who howl about the mini-skirt etc.) let the young have their young styles? Knobby knees on age-35+ are just knobby knees and should be hidden, but on the under-20 set, they're the bees' knees! The kids for once have developed a style of their own, and let's don't knock them, or copy them. Right, Helen? — MEDIUM OLDSER

Dear M.O.: Right! — H.

Dear Helen: New Year's Eve my husband and I attended a party made up of his workers and their wives. After a few drinks, someone suggested we play "Choo-choo. I had no idea what the game was about, and neither did most of the others.

The beginner chugged and toot-tooted around the room until he selected a partner (not his wife) and they choo-chooed off into a separate room. After several minutes the couple emerged, each repeating the same process but picking up a new "caboose." This continued, increasing the length of the line as it went, and the length of time out.

I was the last female selected and choo-chooed into a partially lit room to find that a "Hollywood" embrace passed from one person to the next. My husband had been chosen by a gal who was "after" him all evening. I stood and watched him longingly embrace her. After about seven times of this, they were getting into the swing.

Well, I announced, "I only kiss my own husband like that," and got just a peek on the cheek. They all thought I was a prude. I should have said more, but I know my husband's temper while drinking. I should have insisted we leave early, but didn't want to be a spoil-sport.

Helen, I thought kissing games were for kids. But my husband disagrees. He thinks I was rude to his friends. I think he disgraced our marriage. Our otha.

DORA ANN KING

ARKADELPHIA — Dora Ann King of Hope, a senior at Quachita Baptist University is a contestant in the first Annual Miss Ouachita Pageant, scheduled for April 21-22.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank King of 922 East Division, she is a 1963 graduate of Hope High School.

Dora is a music major and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, SNEA, Musicians' Guild, OBU Singers and the Madrigal Singers, a campus group. She was recently listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

The Pageant will decide who represents Ouachita in the Miss Arkansas Contest.

Housewife Coming Out a Winner

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Remember the housewives' rebellion against supermarkets last fall? Well, one chain took the ladies at their word and now the grocery stores in southern Florida are at war with each other. The housewife is coming out a winner.

Eighty-eight stores in the Winn-Dixie chain today rounded out a week in a no-stamps, no-games, no-gimmicks marketing experiment featuring only lower prices. The boss said it is a success.

"There's not a chance in the world we will return to stamps," said C. W. Waldorf, chief of the Vero Beach-to-Miami division.

Other chains have struck back with advertising campaigns, insisting they will have lower prices and stamps.

"Rest assured," said a one-page ad showing a pretty, smiling housewife resting her cheek on a stampbook, "We won't take away your stamps." Another ad proclaims that stamps are "an American tradition."

But Waldorf said he isn't worried. "We have been surprised at the very few complaints we have received from giving up stamps."

Shoppers interviewed in the stores, most of which carry the name "Kwik-Chek," are also happy.

"I'll take money anytime," said Linda Thomas. Another housewife, carrying a pocket-size adding device, said she had saved almost a dollar on a $9 order.

Waldorf won't claim that kind of savings for every shopper. But he promises that the lower prices on all 7,000 items will be the same every day, not just on weekends.

For example, T-bone steaks came down 31 cents, a pound of bacon 11 cents, a can of applesauce 4 cents. Even prepackaged food with the price marked by the processor, such as potato chips or cookies, have been cut a penny or two. The old price is marked out.

Waldorf, 48, said he started thinking about the multimillion-dollar experiment when the housewives boycotted last fall to protest high prices. He set up a single store without stamps and watched the reaction.

"We decided that the people in our area were ready for lower prices and less frills," said the veteran of 30 years in retail food sales. He closed his stores for five days and opened last Thursday with the new look.

"We figure that stamps add about 2 per cent to the food bill," he said. "We have added other economies, closing down on Sundays and closing on weekdays at 7 p.m. instead of 9, and we promise shoppers a savings day after day."

He would not reveal any statistics on volume. "If my competitor reads that we are up, say, 10 per cent or 20 per cent, you think he will keep on offering stamps and games?"

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The strike of the television performers, union against the three major networks continued to plague the daytime and news shows, but did not affect the filmed series from the Hollywood studios.

Ed Sullivan's hour Sunday night was a rerun of recent vintage. But NBC's Frank McGee report was apparently forced by a shortage of suitable domestic picture stories to make his major subject a grisly feature showing Italian hunters shooting song birds — larks and gold finches — with rifles as a sport.

ABC, shooting a basketball game in Boston, found itself with only one camera but struggled on in black and white. It seemed to this viewer that NBC's "College Bowl" was suffering, too, from some erratic camera work.

Hard-luck program of the entire weekend was NBC's special edition of "Meet the Press." Originally it had been scheduled for Sunday night to demonstrate how an interview could be conducted in color by satellite. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was to be in Washington, interviewed by five foreign newsmen in London. Then Mr. Humphrey was sent on his European tour and Secretary of State Dean Rusk was substituted. Came the AFTRA strike and Mr. Rusk cautiously pulled out and former Undersecretary of State George W. Ball — in Paris — was interviewed by the five newsmen in London.

NBC's "Experiment in Television" pretaped for broadcast Sunday afternoon was a most interesting demonstration of acting by a group of performers who communicated by sign language. The actors in this "Theatre of the Deaf," were most effective in scenes from "Hamlet," but also showed their versatility in a song and dance number from "Guys and Dolls."

The strike continues to upset the daytime schedules. Two new game shows are postponed — ABC's "One in a Million" and NBC's "Snap Judgment," both scheduled to start today. ABC will return "Father Knows Best" to its schedule in place of "General Hospital."

ABC's fall schedule, announced over the weekend, confirmed previous reports that "Batman" will be reduced to a single 30-minute show next season and that lawyer F. Lee Bailey will be host on a weekly interview show, now called "Inside Out" but along "Person-to-Person" lines. The network also announced that Carol Channing and Debbie Reynolds have been signed for some specials next season.

Estrada Retires 12 for Mets

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chuck Estrada was perfect—and that might be just good enough to get him back into the major leagues.

The veteran right-hander retired after 12 men he faced Thursday night in the New York Mets' 2-1 10-inning victory over St. Louis at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Estrada, listed on the roster of the Mets' Williamsport farm club in the Eastern League, most likely will move up to the parent club on the basis of his fine showing.

The former member of the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago Cubs, who spent most of last season with Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League, didn't pitch this spring until two weeks ago because of a blister on his index finger. The Mets obtained him from Vancouver for about $20,000.

Estrada got the victory when Jerry Grote doubled home Jerry Buchek in the bottom of the 10th. Don Cardwell pitched the first six innings for New York, giving up three hits and striking out six. Bob Gibson yielded one run five hits and struck out eight in going seven innings for St. Louis.

Woody Held's two-run double capped a three-run 10th-inning burst as Baltimore beat Minnesota 6-3 in a night game at Orlando, Fla., and the Chicago Cubs whipped the Chicago White Sox 8-4 under the lights at Arlington, Tex.

In day games, Washington outbatted the New York Yankees but still won 5-2; California edged San Francisco 1-0; Atlanta slugged Houston 9-2; Boston topped Detroit 4-1; Kansas City trounced Philadelphia 11-3 and Cleveland routed Cincinnati 11-4.

Terry Haney hit a two-run homer and Frank Robinson connected with the bases empty for Baltimore. Bob Allison doubled in two runs for Minnesota.

The Cubs got five runs in the fourth, including two on a single by pitcher Ken Holtzman, in beating their city rival.

Washington's Joe Coleman pitched five hitless innings before giving up a run in the sixth in the Senators' victory over the Yankees at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Washington committed five errors and the Yankees three, including first baseman Mickey's Mante's first of the spring.

George Brunet and Bill Kelso combined to shut out San Francisco for the Angels at Fresno, Calif. Jose Cardenal's sacrifice fly in the sixth drove in the game's only run.

Eddie Matthews' two-run homer in the sixth sparked Houston past Los Angeles at Wichita, Kan. Rusty Staub followed Matthews' homer with one of his own. Both blows came off Don Drysdale.

Boston scored three times in the sixth — twice on Tony Conigliaro's double and once on George Scott's single in beating Detroit at Lakeland, Fla. Willie Horton suffered a severe strain of his left calf muscles while running out a single which drove in Detroit's only run. He will be sidelined for 12 days.

Ed Charles hit a three-run homer in the third for Kansas City, which also scored six runs in the sixth against Philadelphia at Bradenton, Fla.

Bert Yancy Leads in Masters

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer went tromping through a muddy ditch, Jack Nicklaus floundered through woods and water, Billy Casper was bothered by the gusty, flickle winds.

But it was all over for young Bert Yancy.

"It's a friendly course," the one-time West Point cadet said Thursday after forging a five-under-par 67 and taking a three-stroke lead in the first round of the 31st Masters Golf Tourney.

"It's a lovely course," Yancey continued after playing his first competitive round over the lush, flowery Augusta National course. A week ago he hadn't even seen the 6,980-yard, par 72 layout.

"Terrible," said Palmer, the only four-time champ and co-favorite with Nicklaus in the pre-tourney picking, who shot a 73.

"Not good," said Nicklaus, who has won the last two Masters' titles and had a first-round 72.

"Difficult," said Casper, the reigning U.S. Open champion who recovered for a solid 70.

"I love it," said Yancey. But they agreed on one thing — 28-year-old Bert had played himself quite a round.

"I thought I'd do well," said Yancey, whose gallery on the first few holes consisted almost entirely of his mother, his father and his wife.

Casper, two over par in the early going, rallied with birdies on 8, 12, 16 and 18 and gained a share of second place with surprising Downing Gray, an amateur from Pensacola, Fla.

Tough old Julius Boros and Tony Jacklin, a 22-year-old English pro, were locked at 71 while Nicklaus and 10 others — including San Francisco amateur John Miller and veteran Sam Snead — were tied with 72s.

Yancey, a Tallahassee, Fla., native, had six birdies, one bogey, hit all 18 greens and 17 fairways in his excellent round.

Yancey came into his own on the pro tour last season, winning three tournaments and $42,938 after a series of earlier misfortunes and disappointments.

He entered West Point in 1957 and was captain of the golf team in 1960. Shortly after, in his senior year, he suffered a nervous breakdown and was discharged from the service after he was released from the hospital.

The husky, boyish-looking Yancey turned pro in 1961 and joined the tour the next year. He played in 11 tournaments, didn't win a cent and dropped out.

He rejoined the tour in 1964, but hadn't finished higher than 27th before winning the Azalea Open last year. He later added triumphs in the Memphis and Portland opens.

Palmer and Nicklaus were very critical of the course — but didn't offer it as an excuse. Palmer said the grass on the fairways was very deep "giving us a lot of grassy lies," Nicklaus made the same observation. "You can't put any spin on the ball," Jack said.

Both also complained of the wind, tricky, shifting and gusty. Casper had even more trouble. He bogeyed the first hole when, on the backswing for his second shot, a spectator's hat blew to within a yard of the ball, he jumped and flubbed the shot.

Nicklaus hooked into the woods on his first drive and was in a lake on 13, and Palmer found a ditch on the same hole.

But it wasn't all woes. Australian Bruce Devlin got only the second double eagle in the tournament's history, on the 530-yard eighth. After a big drive, he sent a four-wood to the front of the green, it bounced once and was in the cup.

The only other double eagle in the Masters came in 1935, when Gene Sarazen, the eventual winner, holed out with a 220-yard shot on the 15th.

Sarazen had a double bogey seven on that hole Thursday, then declined to turn in a card. So did Claude Harmon, Dick Mayer shot a 79 but was disqualified for failing to sign his card.

That cut the field to 80 for today's second round. It will be trimmed to the low 44 and all players within 10 shots of the leader for the last two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Got to Be a Gambler in Steeplechase

AINTREE, England (AP) — You've got to be a bit of gambler to buy a horse for $42,000 to win the Grand National Steeplechase two straight times.

Only four horses have done it since the race was launched 130 years ago.

Abd-El-Kader won in 1850-51: The Colonel won in 1869-70; Poethlyn won in 1918-19, and Reynoldstown did the trick in 1935-36.

Now Anglo, last year's winner at odds of 50-1, is trying to win again — but under new ownership.

John R. Gaines of Lexington, Ky., and James J. Houlihan of New York bought Anglo for $42,000 in a bid to win the National.

Gaines won the Hambletonian trotting classic with Kerry Way last August and decided, "I want to win the Grand National."

So he's gambled on Anglo again winning the race that's one of the biggest gambles of the turf.

The four-mile, 856-yard turf course involves 30 tough obstacles.

Fancied horses can be brought down by long shots over the tough obstacles — and even the longest long shot could win.

That's Gaines' gamble in buying Anglo in an effort to win the Grand National.

At the moment Anglo is one of the favored horses in the betting at odds varying from 12-1 to 10-1. Different Class, owned by film star Gregory Peck.

Freddie, second in the last two Grand Nationals, again is among the favorites.

Defeat Price
in Vietnam Comes High

BALTIMORE (AP) — For the young men in the boxes near the Pimlico finish line, even a losing bet is easy to overlook.

Dropping a deuce or a sawbuck on the races is nothing compared with fighting the enemy in Vietnam — where the price of defeat comes high.

About every week or so, a group of patients from the Walter Reed Medical Center in Washington, D.C., visits Pimlico for a day at the races.

"We bring about 35 men," said Sgt. I. C. Noel Stoffel, the public relations officer who accompanies the men and is headed for Vietnam himself later this month.

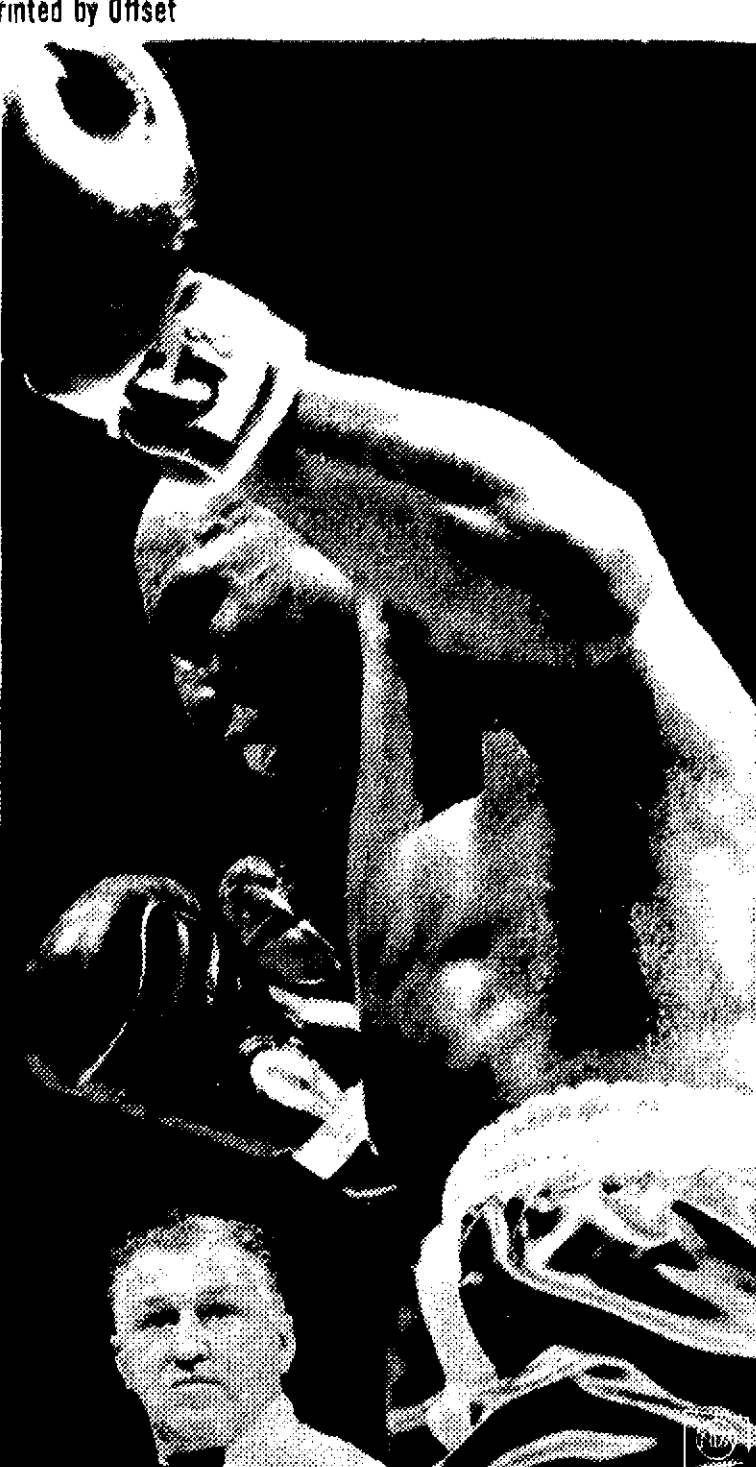

"When we plan a trip to Pimlico as guests of the track," Stoffel said, "we post notices in the convalescent areas of the hospital so the men can find out about it. We've had a tremendous response, and we have to have a cutoff point because the list fills up quickly."

The servicemen, many of them attending races for the first time, are enthusiastic spectators. They get as excited over a winning ticket on a 2-1 favorite as a veteran railbird with a $50 bet on a longshot.

An enlisted man with a clipboard takes the bets, records the transactions and visits the mutual windows to make the wager or collect the winnings.

Back at Walter Reed, the men talk of their experience and many begin to follow racing on the sports pages of the newspapers.

Stoffel said another group is being organized to attend the opening baseball game of the Baltimore Orioles next Tuesday.

UP AND COMING in the welterweight division is Gypsy Joe Harris of Philadelphia, who decided champion Curtis Cokes in a non-title bout. His next meeting with Cokes will be for the championship.

Finals in Tournament Tonight

In tournament action last night at Guernsey the Mohawks advanced to the finals with a victory over Waldo Independents, 74-57. High for the Mohawks was Harry Dale and Don Malloy with 19 each. Lynn Berry had 21 for the losers.

In the second game Perry's five defeated Spring Hill 112 to 88. Clinton Kidd tossed in 24 for Spring Hill followed by Charles Sooter with 23. For Perry's Larry Bruce made 31, Vic Massanelli 25 and Delton Hatfield 23.

The consolation game starts tonight at 7 o'clock with the final game at 8:30 p.m.

Some Doubt Swim Star Can Compete

DALLAS (AP) — They checked the hospital today to find out if one of the heralded stars, Greg Buckingham of the Santa Clara Swim Club, would be able to compete in the National AAU indoor swimming championship which rattled off three records without him Thursday night.

Buckingham, sensation of the NCAA meet, and holder of the record that fell in the event in which he was unable to compete, was reported to have a light case of food poisoning.

Dr. Lester L. Keyser, director of the SMU Health Center, said the star from Stanford University had fever, an upset stomach and diarrhea.

Buckingham swam in the afternoon preliminaries and was second in time. He even practiced at night but had to withdraw before the 500-yard freestyle started. He was defending champion in the event.

So Mike Burton of UCLA stepped out for victory in 4:37 minutes and that not only broke the recognized American and AAU records but tied a pending record set by Buckingham.

There were two other events during the opening program Thursday night and they also produced records.

Bill Utley of Indiana University successfully defended his 200-yard individual medley championship. His time of 1:55.9 cracked the American record by three-tenths of a second. It had been held by Roy Saari of Southern California.

The Santa Clara Swim Club won the 400-yard medley relay in 3:30.4, also a record, and moved into first place in the fight for the team championship.

Santa Clara Swim Club has 21 points. Southern California is second with 12. The individual events count 7-5-4-3-2-1 and the relays 14-10-8-6-4-2.

The only appearance of another heralded star, Don Schollander of Yale, who won four gold medals in the 1964 Olympic Games, was to do a lap with the Yale Varsity B team. He made up a lot of yards but couldn't quite get his team a place.

Boycott of Aqueduct Breaking

NEW YORK (AP) — A break appeared imminent today in the horsemen's boycott that has forced cancellation of racing at Aqueduct race track three straight days.

This was indicated by George D. Widener's statement that he intended to run his Ring Twice, winner of the Widener Handicap at Hialeah, in the Excelsior Handicap Saturday.

"Mr. Widener has a sore throat and can't talk," the butler said at the home of the prominent sportsman.

"But he says to tell you, if his horse is in good condition, he intends to run him."

This followed an earlier declaration by James Cox Brady, chairman of the board of trustees of the New York Racing Association, that there would be racing at Aqueduct Saturday "even if only one horse is entered in a race."

The owners, represented by the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, have not entered a single horse since Tuesday in protest at the failure of the New York State Legislature to pass a bill providing for higher purse money. It had been passed by the Senate, but died in an Assembly Committee.

"We have every sympathy for the horsemen in their fight for increased purses and fully understand their resentment," Brady said. "But they have made their point. Now we expect the owners and trainers stabled in New York to cooperate with management in putting on a full card of races Saturday."

national television audience. Chicago and Toronto resume their series Sunday.

Denis DeJordy kicked out 42 Toronto shots and the Black Hawks got goals from Stan Mikita, the NHL scoring champ, sore-legged Bobby Hull, Pierre Pilote, Ken Wharram and Lou Angotti.

Hull, who scored 52 goals during the regular season but missed the final three games with strained ligaments in his left knee, complained after the game that he felt "like a man of 80."

Frank Mahovlich and Jim Pappin hit for Toronto.

The Rangers held a 4-1 lead midway through the third period on a pair of goals by Rod Gilbert and one each by Boom Boom Geoffrion and Vic Hadfield.

But the Canadiens roared back. Claude Provost jammed a goal under Ed Giacomin from close in and less than a half-minute later, J. C. Tremblay made it 4-3. Then John Ferguson's shot bounced off two Rangers and past Giacomin, tying the score.

Ralph Backstrom's second goal of the night put Montreal on top and Jean Beliveau wrapped it up with less than two minutes remaining.

Igor Sikorsky flew the first successful helicopter on Sept. 14, 1939.

Post Wins

Chicago and Montreal, as expected, hold 1-0 leads today following their opening games in best-of-7 Stanley Cup semifinal playoffs Thursday.

But it was a lot easier for the Black Hawks than the Canadiens.

Chicago, the National Hockey League's regular season champions, walloped Toronto 5-2 while Montreal staged a furious last-period rally and topped New York 6-4.

The Canadiens, defending Cup champions, host New York in the second game of their series Saturday afternoon before a

Arkansas
Derby Set
for Saturday

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whether Aqueduct will operate Saturday after being dark three days was thoroughbred racing's big question today.

It transcends such races as Oaklawn's Arkansas Derby and Golden Gate Fields' Gold Rush Stakes in which 3-year-olds will attempt to prove they are worthy of a position in the starting line-up for the May 6 running of the Kentucky Derby.

James Cox Brady, chairman of the New York Racing Association's Board of Trustees, has asked the horsemen to end their boycott.

The Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, which instigated the boycott when the State Assembly failed to approve a measure that would have increased purses by $15,000 a day, insists it is strictly a matter up to the individual owner.

The three-day shutdown has cost the state close to $1 million in revenue. The track has lost half that much. Counting the four days which the Big A was closed earlier in the season because of bad weather, it is estimated that the state has lost around $2.5 million.

Troubled Aqueduct officials have given little thought to the possible Excelsior field if the 1 1/2-mile race is run. Advocator, an easy winner of last Saturday's Westchester, is the high-weight under 126 pounds. Our Michael, first in the shorter Paumonok, has been assigned 120, two more than Ring Twice, winner of the Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park.

The $50,000-added Arkansas Derby, at 1 1/8 miles, and the one mile of the $15,000-added Gold Rush may attract as many as 30 3-year-olds with the Golden Gate headliner split into two divisions.

Ask the Fare, hero of the Louisiana Derby, heads the probable field of 10 in the Oaklawn feature. Monitor and Mr. Sidney also rate high in the pre-race calculations.

Among those slated for action in the Gold Rush, a stepping stone toward the rich April 22 running of the California Derby over the same track, are a half-dozen eligibles for the Kentucky Derby. They are, Dr. Isby, Field Master, Rimal, Rising Market, Sand Devil and Till Morrow.

Treaties of the United States are stored and guarded in fireproof vaults of the Department of State at Washington, D.C.

LEARN HOW
LOUISVILLE (AP) - Sign on a church bulletin board:
"In order to get to Heaven, take your flight training here."
The first test came when the city moved benches and playground equipment into the reclaimed section of the park. Vandalism struck almost immediately, smashed some benches and threw trash around the grounds. "Some of the boys went out to the park at night and waited for these guys to come back," Watson said, "and when they did know, teen-agers couldn't stay the situation was taken care of very long."

SUBTERRANEAN COW PATH shortens the way home from the pasture considerably. The 444-foot long galvanized sheet steel culvert was placed under the new interstate highway connecting Binghamton and Syracuse, N.Y., when the highway divided the farm.

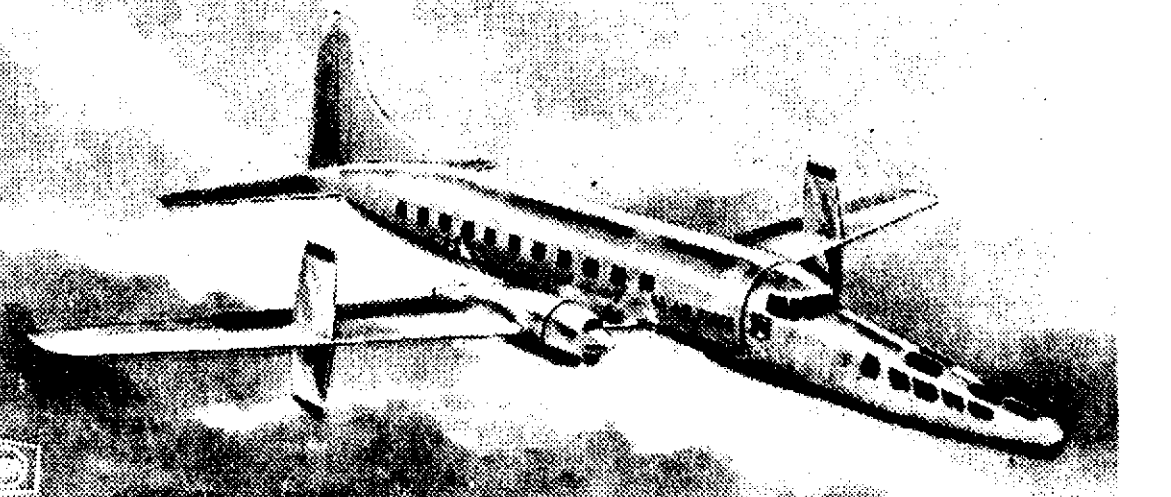

Beer Tossing Causes a Civic Project

By JAMES F. DONOHUE
LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP) - It all started on a blazing hot day in August picking up beer bottles - and it has grown into a major civic project with a burst of teen-age energy and ideas.
And the teen-agers have done it themselves to improve their image in this small city - and build up civic pride by getting involved in civic affairs.
The teen-agers call it "The Teen Betterment Committee."
So far the results have included a partly reclaimed municipal park, a growing manpower pool of some of the best workers in the city, reduced vandalism and more ideas for projects than the city knows how to handle.
How do you explain it? "You don't," said Francis X. O'Connell of the State Division of Employment Security. "You're just thankful for it."
O'Connell is involved in the committee's current project, finding jobs for teen-agers. He has helped place 30 boys and 10 girls in part-time jobs and so far he says "they're working out just great."
"We're looking for things that might go wrong, too," he added, "Because teen-agers are organized to find jobs for teen-agers is a new idea, and if there are any loopholes we want to find them."
"But I tell you these kids don't know how to quit. And, of course, they're filling a real need. We have a real labor shortage here."
Lawrence is an industrial city of 75,000 about 40 miles north of Boston.
The Teen Betterment Committee began late last summer when a community group in South Lawrence decided to tap teen-age energy to clear an abandoned city park.
The kids organized themselves with a minimum of adult supervision. More than 100 of them gave 900 hours to the project, reclaimed about two acres of the 17-acre hilly, wooded park and filled 50 city dump trucks with a variety of trash.
They worked in the first week of August, the hottest week of the year, in three-hour shifts.
The city aldermen showed their gratitude for the two acres of park land by throwing a swim party for the teen-agers.
Then the aldermen and other Lawrence adults sat back to see what the committee would do next.
John Watson, 17, president of the committee, said, "We got the feeling that the adults were skeptical about us. They figured this was a one-time project. You son said, 'and when they did know, teen-agers couldn't stay the situation was taken care of very long.'"

A Texarkana police officer, hoping his eyes were not deceiving him, rode around the block and returned to a parked compact automobile.
"I went around the block to make sure I saw what I thought I saw," said Officer Don Campbell.
He did.
It was a horse sitting in the back seat of the car, but on the second trip the horse was standing.
Allan Gilbert Jr., writing in the Northwest Arkansas Times at Fayetteville, says a sonic boom is a little like the race to the moon.
"It represents considerable technical achievement, but little, if any advantage to the average homeowner and taxpayer. It represents somebody in a big hurry to get some place he'd probably be better off not getting to."

The city of Gravette has published a piece of promotional literature listing salient facts about the city and also showing photographs of various sections.
The literature, to be used for tourist and industrial promotion, bears a slogan: "A Town That's Ready for Tomorrow."
The city moved benches and playground equipment into the reclaimed section of the park. Vandalism struck almost immediately, smashed some benches and threw trash around the grounds.
"Some of the boys went out to the park at night and waited for these guys to come back," Watson said, "and when they did know, teen-agers couldn't stay the situation was taken care of very long."

The park has not been bothered by vandals since.

LONG-SHOOTED AIRCRAFT depicted here is actually an "in-flight simulator" being developed to duplicate flying motions of large jet aircraft of the future. The one drawn here is equipped with the type of nose that will be on the supersonic transport of the future. Authenticity of the simulator, being developed by Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, is so exact that even the appropriate type of noise that will be heard on the SST is produced in the forward cockpit.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Have any species of trees survived to our day from the Coal Age?
A—Only two—the ginkgo or maidenhair tree and the cycad, which is halfway between a fern and a palm.

Q—Was Michaelangelo paid for the supervision of the rebuilding of Saint Peter's Church?
A—The sculptor and architect accepted no pay for this work, for he believed he was working for the glory of God.

Q—How was Gen. Lafayette honored for his services in the American Revolution?
A—In 1824, he revisited America by invitation of Congress, which voted him a grant of $200,000 and a township of land.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Medical Aid Advisable For Pregnant Women

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I am pregnant and would like to get some reliable information—not just old wives' tales—about this subject.

A—Pregnancy is a normal physiologic state but, because of the many possible complications, every pregnant woman should be under the care of a physician. Your doctor is the one to supply the information you need or to recommend collateral reading.

Q—What are the first signs of pregnancy and how long does it take to know for sure?

A—The first and most consistent sign is the missed menstrual period. Some of the newer pregnancy tests are positive as early as four or five days after the missed period and the test results are available within a few hours after starting the test.

Q—How long can a woman carry a fetus in her uterine tubes before a diagnosis of ectopic pregnancy can be made? What are the symptoms of a tubal pregnancy?

A—When the ovum fails to reach the uterus for some unknown reason it may become fertilized and embedded in the uterine tube. Such a pregnancy proceeds very much as a normal pregnancy at first. Menstruation stops and tests for pregnancy are positive. After 10 to 12 weeks, pain in the pelvis, accompanied by small hemorrhages from the uterus, point to a probable tubal pregnancy. Soon thereafter the tube ruptures. This is accompanied by a sharp pain and severe bleeding. This necessitates prompt removal of the ruptured tube. If a positive diagnosis is made before the rupture, the tube should be removed to prevent further bleeding. If the opposite tube is normal, a subsequent normal pregnancy can take place.

Q—I have had my uterine tubes tied. Is there any chance of my becoming pregnant

Q—No. It would require an- other operation (often unsuccessful) to re-establish the potency of the tubes.

Q—Can a 52-year-old woman who still menstruates regularly become pregnant?

A—Yes, but I would like to see her birth certificate. Pregnancy depends on continued ovarian function rather than on age, but it is extremely rare for the ovaries to function after age 50.

Q—Could a woman have a normal pregnancy and childbirth with a ruptured uterus?

A—Since rupture of the uterus occurs only during a difficult labor, I assume you mean a woman who has had a ruptured uterus in the past and a repair operation. She could become pregnant but her delivery should be by Caesarean section.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The word “monsoon”—periodic winds in certain latitudes—comes from the Arabic word “mausim” which means a time, a season. At first monsoon referred to the winds over the Arabian Sea, which blow six months from the northeast and six months from the southwest, says The World Almanac. Later the word was used to refer to similar winds in other parts of the world. In India, the southwest monsoon is almost synonymous with “rain” which the wind brings.

Centennial Rerun
Begins Next Week;
We Miss Races

Thirty-one years ago your editor took a month off from the daily newspaper grind, and began researching both history and photography for the upcoming Arkansas Centennial Edition, which we issued June 26, 1936. Out of print for 30 years that celebrated edition will start coming to life next week.

Knowing the capability of our new offset printing plant I conceived the idea of photographing the old Centennial and inserting it in our daily edition two pages at a time. Subscribers could save each two-page insert as it appeared, and in 24 weeks they could staple these together and have the entire original 48-page Centennial Edition. Not a word can be changed in this photographic re-issue, of course, except that we will add a label identifying it as a reprint.

Despite its 1936 date we still have calls for the old Centennial, which prompted my reprint idea. And the public response since our reprint announcement of March 29 has been excellent.

The history of practically every town in Southwest Arkansas is incorporated in the Centennial, and since this is a bonus offered without cost to every Star subscriber we are bolstering the promotion with radio advertising on KXAR, Hope; KPTA, Prescott; and KBHC, Nashville.

The miracles of new processes and machinery are never-ending. Produced by the old letterpress plant the Centennial cost $1,700. To reset all the type and re-engage all the pictures today would cost $4,000 or $5,000. But today we have an offset plant. All we have to do is photograph the old paper and include it in the daily press run.

Yesterday I suggested the possibility that we might print our process color photographs of the Hot Springs horse races in today's Star. But, in the parlance of the track, the entry is scratched.

The race pictures will have to await another day. The Star has a very small but extremely expensive machine which takes a look at the preliminary step in making separation negatives for color and hands down the decision: Yes or No. Last night we asked the machine about the preliminary for today's scheduled pictures — and the machine said No.

The machine's name won't mean anything to you, but it is the Macbeth Quantalight Densitometer — about the size of a portable adding machine, with a price tag of $785.

It analyzes your first step, the color transparency and the black-and-white copy you have made and placed over the transparency to prevent color being scattered all over the premises. If this package isn't "right" the Densitometer tells you so — and you do the job over, saving yourself the disappointment of a bad presentation in the newspaper.

Star readers will remember the month-long struggle we had before solving the riddle of getting good black-and-white pictures in offset — the color process is a hundred times tougher, but we are making progress, and with the aid of the indispensable Densitometer we'll eventually get our newest color pictures out to you.

Escapes Are Recaptured

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — William D. Tash, 17, of Fort Bragg, Calif., and James T. Messick, 24, of Lansing, Mich., escaped from Tucker Prison Farm on horseback Thursday but were recaptured a short time later by State Police.

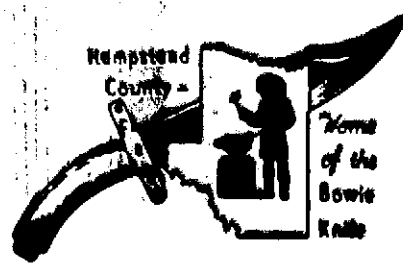

Tash was serving a five-year term from Garland County for burglary and grand larceny. Messick was sentenced to five years for forgery and uttering from Baxter County.

They were caught about a mile north of England.

Benton Gets Big Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Approval of a $224,000 grant to Benton, Ark., to help finance expansion of a water distribution system was announced Thursday by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

JOYCE JONES

Bobby Baker Sentenced to 1-3 Yrs.

By MARTHA COLE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker, onetime Senate aide, was sentenced today to not less than one year and not more than three years in prison.

Baker stood quietly in the courtroom as Judge Oliver Gasch pronounced the sentence. Baker was convicted of seven counts on charges of income tax evasion.

His attorneys say they will appeal, and Baker could remain free on an appeal bond if the judge grants it. He has been free on $5,000 bond.

U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver Gasch, who presided over Baker's three-week trial in January, will deliver the sentence. The maximum could be 48 years in prison and $47,000 in fines.

Baker told a reporter who called his home here Thursday that he was "fine." Since his trial, he said, he had been "looking after quite a few enterprises."

"I have plenty to keep me busy," he said.

This has been his story since 1963, when he resigned as secretary to Senate Democrats after issues were raised about his financial dealings outside his Senate job.

He made $19,600 a year at that post but also amassed a fortune he estimated once at $2 million in various interests such as law, real estate and motels.

At one time, Baker's immediate superior was Lyndon B. Johnson, who was Senate Democratic leader before he became vice president and then President.

At his trial, Baker testified that then-Vice President Johnson referred him to the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., when Baker went to Johnson about his financial troubles.

A big issue in the trial was what Baker did with some $100,000 loaned by California savings and loan company executives in 1962, ostensibly for political campaigns. Baker said he turned the money over to Kerr, who died in 1963. The government charged that Baker pocketed $80,000 for his own use.

The jury found Baker guilty of all non-duplicating counts that the government had charged. This included evading some $23,000 in income taxes for 1961 and 1962, theft of the campaign funds, and conspiracy to defraud the government in its income tax collection by arranging with others to conceal funds meant for Baker.

Powell's Suit Is Dismissed

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. dismissed today Adam Clayton Powell's suit for his seat in Congress.

Hart also denied Powell's application for a three-judge court to hear the constitutional challenge of the resolution that excluded him.

The judge said the federal court does not have jurisdiction in the case. Herbert Reid, one of Powell's attorneys, said that the issue will be taken as quickly as possible to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Reid said he would file the appeal probably some time today.

"The doctrine of separation of powers, which developed over a period of two millennia, is firmly embedded in the warp and woof of our Constitution," Hart said in his decision.

Hart said for the court to decide the case and grant what Powell had asked "would constitute a clear violation of the doctrine of separation of powers."

On that basis he accepted the core of the House defense against the action by the New York Negro Democrat.

The House excluded Powell on grounds he misused Education and Labor Committee funds, defied New York State courts in a defamation suit and was contemptuous toward House committees that investigated him.

He contends the House wrongfully established qualifications not required by the Constitution. Powell asked Hart to set up a three-judge panel to hear a constitutional challenge to the resolution that excluded him.

The law authorizes a district judge to establish such a panel when an act of Congress is challenged. The House contends its resolution is not an act of Congress.

Powell, who will try to regain his seat in a special election Tuesday, also asked Hart for an injunction ordering the House to seat him immediately. Thursday in Albany, New York's highest court ruled Powell could run for the 18th Congressional District seat.

Hart or a special three-judge panel could issue the injunction which would force the House to seat the Harlem Democrat pending the outcome of the court suit.

Hart could also act alone and dismiss Powell's entire suit.

If Hart alone dismisses the suit, Powell's attorneys plan to take the case to the U.S. Court of Appeals. If the special panel is convened and rules against him, Powell could appeal directly to the Supreme Court. The House also plans to appeal any adverse ruling.

Mother Just Thankful Her Son Is Safe

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The mother of 11-year-old Kenneth Young, a kidnap victim now safe at home after a 72-hour ordeal and payment of $250,000 ransom, says of her son's abduction: "I feel sorry for the man — out there being hunted. If I saw the man, I would thank him for returning my son home alive and well."

Arline Young made the comment Thursday night at a news conference in the family's expensive home, once owned by film star Deanna Durbin. This was the first meeting with newsmen for Kenny, who wore a baseball cap over his shaved head.

Impatient about photographs but anxious to relate details of his kidnapping, he disclosed that apparently only one man was involved.

Flashing a shy smile, Kenny said, "I didn't feel chicken about it. On the first day, he said I would be home Wednesday night."

"I wasn't scared except when he showed me the gun," he said. Consistently referring to his abductor only as "he," the financier's son told of the food

There will be singing services at White's Chapel Baptist Church on Sunday, April 9 starting at 2 p.m.

Humphrey Is Greeted by Disorder Nearly Everywhere in Europe

By HARRY KELLY

PARIS (AP) — Fighting broke out between police and anti-Vietnam demonstrators today as U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey went from talks with President Charles de Gaulle to the Arch of Triumph to lay a wreath on the tomb of France's unknown soldier.

A crowd massed around the arch when Humphrey arrived from Elysee Palace and sent up shouts of "U.S. murderers" and "Peace in Vietnam." Some displayed placards with the same slogans.

Strong police reinforcements moved in and fighting broke out, but there appeared to be no serious injuries. Police hustled the demonstrators, including a number of students, into several police buses and took them.

The fighting occurred where the Avenue Des Champs Elysee joins the Place de l'Etoile, a huge traffic circle. The broad traffic circle separated the Champs Elysee from the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, where Humphrey laid a wreath.

Humphrey came from West Berlin, where noisy young demonstrators threw flour, a fire-cracker and beer glasses and waved a North Vietnamese flag outside two receptions Thursday night for the vice president. He was not hit and appeared unruffled.

As Humphrey arrived at Orly Airport today, about 200 demonstrators set up shouts for "peace in Vietnam" as they stood on the roof of the airport administration building several hundred yards from the honor salon where Humphrey stepped from his plane.

Some of the demonstrators hurled eggs at a car full of newsmen but missed. One of the cars in Humphrey's motorcade was splattered with white paint as it drove into the city.

Humphrey paused briefly at his hotel on the Place de la Concorde, then drove four blocks to the Elysee Palace for the meeting and luncheon with De Gaulle.

WASHINGTON

The cut in the Federal Reserve Board discount rate from 4 1/2 to 4 per cent could spell more trouble for President Johnson's proposed income tax increase.

Regardless of what a federal judge decides in the Adam Clayton Powell case, the ruling will be appealed — either by the Harlem Democrat or the House, which has refused to seat him.

Bobby Baker, former secretary to the Senate Democrats, hears his sentence for income tax evasion, theft and conspiracy.

Progress is reported in the Teamsters Union and trucking industry negotiations.

Chances for an increase in Social Security benefits by July 1 are fading fast.

S. Vietnam Threatens to Bomb Hanoi

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. artillerymen fired a score of 160-pound 175mm shells into the area of the Ben Hai River bridge today in response to a report a large number of the enemy had massed at that border crossing point in the demilitarized zone.

The incident was the second at the bridge in 48 hours.

In Saigon, chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu threatened to bomb Hanoi or invade North Vietnam if the North Vietnamese continue attacking the South Vietnamese half of the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone.

Thieu's threat came in the wake of a Communist foray against a police post at the southern end of the bridge Wednesday and a mass attack Thursday by perhaps 2,000 North Vietnamese troops on the provincial capital of Quang Tri.

The South Vietnamese army reported the renewed activity at the bridge and relayed, via U.S. Marines, their request for the artillery shelling.

The Marines, who said they could neither confirm nor deny the presence of Communist troops at the bridge, passed on the word to Army artillerymen manning the long-range 175s at positions below the demilitarized zone.

An aerial observer said six or eight of the shells, 6.8 inches in diameter, damaged the bridge, but the structure remained usable. It was not brought out whether he saw any enemy casualties.

In the air war against North Vietnam, U.S. planes attacked Communist missile sites Thursday within the defense ring surrounding Hanoi and Haiphong, North Vietnam's major port.

Two of the sites attacked were only five and seven miles from Haiphong.

Just south of Haiphong, two U.S. destroyers, the Waddell and the Duncan, were hit by Red shore batteries Thursday. But the Navy said there were no casualties and damage to the ships was light.

Thieu said Communist attacks in the South Vietnamese half of the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam are a deliberate violation of the 1954 Geneva agreement, and South Vietnam "reserves the right to retaliate in any form to protect itself."

Asked what form the retaliation might take, Thieu said Hanoi might be bombed or South Vietnamese troops could be sent into the North.

"And these actions must be considered as self-defense," he added.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky flew to Hanoi.
